Houſe of Commons.

JOVIS, 19° DIE JANUARII, 1792.

THE Houſe being met, according to the laſt prorogation, a meſſage was brought from his Excellency the Lord Lieutenant by Mr. Bryan Connor, Yeoman Uſher of the Black Rod:

" MR. SPEAKER,

" IT is his Excellency the Lord Lieutenant's " pleaſure that this Houſe do attend him immedi- " ately in the Houſe of Peers."

Accordingly Mr. Speaker with the Houſe went up to attend his Excellency.

And

And being returned,

A member took the oaths, made and ſubſcribed the declaration, and took and ſubſcribed the oath of abjuration, according to the laws made for thoſe purpoſes.

Several members returned upon new writs took the oaths, made and ſubſcribed the declaration, and took and ſubſcribed the oath of abjuration, according to the laws made for thoſe purpoſes.

Then Mr. Speaker reported that the Houſe had attended his Excellency the Lord Lieutenant in the Houſe of Peers, where his Excellency was pleaſed to make a ſpeech to both Houſes of Parliament, of which Mr. Speaker ſaid, to prevent miſtakes, he had obtained a copy, which he read to the Houſe; and the ſame was afterwards read by the Clerk at the table, and is as follows:

" My Lords and Gentlemen,

" I HAVE it in command from his Majeſty to " acquaint you that ſince the cloſe of the laſt ſeſſion " preliminaries of peace have been ſigned between " Ruſſia and the Porte, and thoſe powers are now " engaged in negociation for a definitive treaty, which " his Majeſty truſts will complete the reſtoration of " tranquillity amongſt the different powers of Europe.

" His Majeſty, convinced of the intereſt you take " in whatever concerns his domeſtic happineſs, com- " mands me to acquaint you of the marriage of his " Royal Highneſs the Duke of York and the Princeſs " Royal of Pruſſia.

" Gentlemen

" GENTLEMEN OF THE HOUSE OF COMMONS,

" I have ordered the proper officers to lay before " you the national accounts, and I truſt you will make " ſuch proviſions as are neceſſary for the exigencies " of the ſtate and the honourable ſupport of his Ma- " jeſty's government.

" MY LORDS AND GENTLEMEN,

" The conſtant attention you have ſhewn to the " intereſts of Ireland makes it unneceſſary to recom- " mend to you a continuance of that wiſe ſyſtem of " policy from which your country has received ſuch " ineſtimable advantages, in the increaſe of her trade, " her credit and manufactures. It is equally unneceſ- " ſary for me particularly to point out the encourage- " ment of your agriculture and attention to your linen " manufacture. The proteſtant charter ſchools and " other charitable inſtitutions will receive your accuſ- " tomed conſideration.

" You may be aſſured of my zealous co-operation " to forward every meaſure that may contribute to " the public welfare. I ſhall pay unremitting atten- " tion to the due execution of the law and the " maintenance of good order and government, ſo eſ- " ſential to the continuance of that freedom, proſperity " and happineſs which Ireland enjoys under his Ma- " jeſty's auſpicious reign, and under our excellent " conſtitution."

A motion was made, that an humble addreſs be preſented to his Majeſty, requeſting leave to approach his Majeſty with the moſt dutiful and loyal profeſſions of attachment to his royal perſon, family and government. To expreſs the peculiar ſatisfaction we feel in the communication made from the throne in his Majeſty's name, that ſince the cloſe of the laſt ſeſſion preliminaries of peace have been agreed upon between Ruſſia and the Porte, and that thoſe powers are now engaged in negociation for a definitive treaty, and that we learn with ſincere pleaſure that his Majeſty truſts that tranquillity amongſt the different powers of Europe will be thus completely reſtored. To aſſure his Majeſty that he does juſtice to the feelings of his faithful Commons, in expreſſing his conviction of the intereſt they take in whatever concerns his Majeſty's domeſtic happineſs; that we therefore come forward with the warmeſt expreſſions of congratulations upon the recent marriage of his Royal Highneſs the Duke of York with the Princeſs Royal of Pruſſia; and that we muſt ever feel the livelieſt concern in every circumſtance which can contribute to the luſtre of his throne and afford additional ſtability and permanence to his auguſt houſe. To aſſure his Majeſty that he may rely with confidence on our cordial diſpoſition to grant ſuch ſupplies as the exigencies of the ſtate and the honour of his Majeſty's government ſhall require. That when we reflect upon the continuing increaſe of our trade, our credit, our manufactures, particularly the linen manufacture, and when we conſider the improvement and the extenſion of the agriculture of Ireland, we cannot fail to reſort to thoſe principles and meaſures of encouragement which have contributed to ſo much proſperity; and that we ſhall adhere with ſteadineſs to that ſyſtem of liberality and policy which, under his Majeſty's auſpices, has procured ſuch ineſtimable advantages to this kingdom. Nor ſhall we fail in our attention to the proteſtant charter ſchools, and to thoſe charitable inſtitutions which have uſually experienced our aſſiſtance and ſupport. Sincerely to thank his Majeſty for continuing in the government a Lord Lieutenant who has ſhewn a zealous diſpoſition to forward every meaſure that may contribute to the public welfare. That we are convinced of his decided reſolution to ſupport the due execution of the law; and that under his firm adminiſtration we ſhall feel confident of the maintenance of good order and government, which are ſo eſſential to preſerve that freedom, proſperity and happineſs, which Ireland enjoys under her excellent conſtitution, and under the bleſſings of his Majeſty's mild and benevolent reign.

A motion was made, and the queſtion being put, that an amendment be made to the ſaid propoſed motion, by expunging the following words: *Sincerely to thank his Majeſty for continuing in the government a Lord Lieutenant who has ſhewn a zealous diſpoſition to forward every meaſure that may contribute to the public welfare. ## KNIGHTS, CITIZENS AND BURGESSES,

IN PARLIAMENT ASSEMBLED.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR EXCELLENCY,

WE his Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal ſubjects, the Commons of Ireland in Parliament aſſembled, beg leave to approach your Excellency with our ſincereſt thanks for your excellent ſpeech from the throne to both Houſes of Parliament.

We thank your Excellency for communicating to us the pleaſing information, that preliminaries of peace having been agreed upon between Ruſſia and the Porte, thoſe powers are now engaged in negotiation for a definitive treaty; and it is a ſource of additional ſatisfaction that his Majeſty has reaſon to truſt that the ſucceſs of this meaſure will completely reſtore tranquillity to the different powers of Europe.

We feel a lively pleaſure in the recent marriage of his Royal Highneſs the Duke of York with the Princeſs

We return your Excellency our beſt acknowledgments for having ordered the national accounts to be laid before us by the proper officers, and we ſhall grant with chearfulneſs ſuch ſupplies as may ſatisfy the exigencies of the ſtate and afford an honourable ſupport to his Majeſty's government.

We are ſenſible of your Excellency's knowledge of the true intereſts of Ireland, when you point our attention to that policy, the wiſdom of which has been ſo ſucceſsfully proved in the increaſe of our manufactures, and particularly of the linen manufacture, in the extenſion of our agriculture, the ſtability of our credit, and the enlargement of our commerce. In viewing the ineſtimable advantages which Ireland receives from thoſe ſources of wealth and induſtry, we ſhall ſtudiouſly guard and promote the judicious ſyſtem from whence they are derived. We ſhall alſo give due conſideration to the Proteſtant charter ſchools, and to thoſe inſtitutions of charity which have uſually received the bounty of Parliament.

Senſible of the happineſs which Ireland enjoys under your prudent adminiſtration, we cannot be too thankful to his Majeſty for continuing your Excellency in the government. We feel aſſured that all our endeavours for the public welfare will receive from your Excellency a cordial ſupport and co-operation, and be favourably repreſented to our ſovereign. We are confident in your Excellency's reſolution to ſupport the due execution of the laws, and in your firm determination mination to maintain good order and government. We can thus rely with ſecurity in the continuance of that freedom, proſperity and happineſs which Ireland has enjoyed during his Majeſty's auſpicious reign, and which it will be the pride of your Excellency's adminiſtration to preſerve and increaſe by the firmneſs and vigilance of your conduct.

A petition

A petition of the Incorporated Society in Dublin for promoting Engliſh proteſtant ſchools in Ireland, under their common ſeal, was preſented to the Houſe and read; ſetting forth, that the petitioners have the ſatisfaction to find the charter ſchools recommended from the throne by his Excellency the Lord Lieutenant to that conſideration from Parliament which the intereſts of religion and the good education of youth peculiarly demand, and acknowledge with gratitude the conſtant ſupport which they have received from Parliament; they beg leave to obſerve that in conſequence of the increaſed price of the neceſſaries of life, and many repreſentations from reſpectable perſons, they found it expedient it in the years 1787 and 1788 to augment conſiderably the allowance for the diet and clothing of the children on their eſtabliſhment, whoſe number was at Michaelmas laſt one thouſand ſeven hundred and twenty-eight in their ſchools and nurſeries; and therefore praying relief.

That the ſaid petition do lie on the table for the peruſal of the members.

A petition of the governors of Saint Patrick's hoſpital, Dublin, under their common ſeal, was preſented to the Houſe and read; ſetting forth, that the petitioners were incorporated by act of Parliament in the year one thouſand ſeven hundred and forty-ſix, for the purpoſe of eſtabliſhing an hoſpital for the reception of lunaticks and idiots, under the will of the Reverend Doctor Jonathan Swift, late Dean of Saint Patrick's; that in conſequence of ſuch incorporation, and the bequeſt of the founder, and other charitable donations, an hoſpital was accordingly erected, which at firſt was capable only of receiving forty-eight perſons, but by ſubſequent charitable donations and the bounty of Parliament,

Parliament, the petitioners were enabled to extend the building, in which there are at preſent above one hundred miſerable objects entertained, ſeveral of whom attempted the act of ſuicide, and many others threatened the deſtruction of their wives, children and parents; that the demand of the public for the reception of ſuch unhappy objects encreaſing to a very great degree on the petitioners, they were induced to undertake a further extenſion of the building, as may appear by the plan thereunto annexed, ſo as to enable them to receive fifty-four additional patients, (a number of petitions for admiſſion daily preſenting to the board, the petitioners believe would not be ſufficient to anſwer the neceſſity of the people) and on which addition they have actually expended the ſum of 1797l. ſterling, being the whole of the money in their hands; that the petitioners funds for completing ſuch neceſſary extenſion being totally exhauſted, they are unable to diſcharge a debt of 1968l. due to the ſeveral artificers employed, and which has been neceſſarily expended thereon in ſaid additional building, and the petitioners humbly apprehend a ſum of 300l. will be neceſſary to complete and finiſh the ſame, and it will alſo require a further ſum of 300l. to purchaſe the beds, bedding, and ſuch neceſſaries for the additional number of patients as the ſaid additional building when completed will be capable of accommodating, making in the whole the ſum of 2568l.; that the petitioners, from inability, have been obliged to diſcontinue proceeding to finiſh ſaid building, and have no means to carry the above uſeful purpoſe into execution but what may ariſe from the public bounty, and therefore praying relief.

ORDERED,

That the ſaid petition do lie on the table for the peruſal of the members.

A petition

A petition of the river Boyne company, under their common ſeal, was preſented to the Houſe and read; ſetting forth, that before the year 1789 certain duties having been appropriated to promoting inland navigations in this kingdom, and Parliament having diſcloſed an intention of diſtributing conſiderable aids for the abovementioned purpoſe, the petitioners did, in the ſeſſion held in the year 1789, preſent a petition to the Houſe, praying aid for making the river Boyne navigable from Drogheda to Trim; that the petitioners, in purſuance of certain reſolutions of the Houſe, did, together with ſaid petition, depoſite with the proper officer a plan of the work propoſed to be executed by them, and an eſtimate of the propoſed expenſe, amounting to 37,500l. of which Parliament in that ſeſſion were pleaſed to grant to the petitioners one-third of ſaid ſum, amounting to 12,500l. upon the petitioners ſubſcribing for and ſecuring the remaining ſum of 25,000l. to be expended on the ſaid work; that the petitioners not being then well acquainted with the nature of inland navigations, and not having in contemplation any junction with the Royal Canal (which had not been then begun), did conceive that a navigation ſufficient for the paſſage of one boat, drawing when loaded three feet ſix inches of water, and conſtructed for the moſt part in the bed of the river Boyne, would be ſufficient to accommodate the trade likely to take place on the ſaid navigation, and accordingly the ſaid eſtimate was prepared as for the execution of the work in that manner; that the petitioners have proceeded with ſpirit and alacrity on the ſaid work, and have nearly finiſhed a conſiderable part of it, ſituate between the towns of Slane and Navan, and that previous to the commencement thereof, upon a more careful and accurate examination of the river Boyne, it was found neceſſary that the navigation ſhould depart from from the bed of the river in more places, and to a greater extent, than had been pointed out by the ſaid plan laid before the Houſe; and that the Royal Canal having been begun, and it being thought adviſeable to conſtruct the navigation of the Boyne ſo as that boats plying on the Royal Canal might be enabled to paſs upon ſuch navigation to be executed by the petitioners, they for that purpoſe found it neceſſary to increaſe the depth and breadth of the navigation, by adding one foot ſix inches to the depth of it and the locks, and making the breadth of the navigation ſuch as to enable two boats to paſs each other in all parts, which improvement the petitioners adopted, as well for the more perfect execution of the particular work intruſted to them as for the purpoſe of effectuating what they conceived to be the object of Parliament, viz. the making practicable, one time or other, a communication between the principal rivers and ſeveral navigations in this kingdom; that the petitioners being informed that a communication between the ſaid work undertaken by them and the Royal and Grand Canals is eaſily practicable, and that a conſiderable trade, as well in the carriage of goods as paſſengers to and from the town of Navan and the country adjoining from and to the city of Dublin would certainly take place, and that excluſive of any ſuch conſideration the ſaid work undertaken by them would be conſiderably improved, and rendered more certainly and extenſively uſeful, by making the propoſed communication between the towns of Navan and Trim, a ſtill-water navigation rather than by following the bed of the river, have therefore reſolved to execute the work in that manner, if approved of by Parliament, and they ſhall receive an adequate aid to enable them to accompliſh the ſaid works; that notwithſtanding the petitioners have uſed the utmoſt œconomy in the expenditure of the

the money heretofore laid out by them on their ſaid undertaking, yet by means of the ſaid improvement in the manner of executing the ſaid work, they have already expended thereon a ſum of 18,100l. or thereabout, ſo that there only remains of the ſaid original fund provided for the ſaid work the ſum of 19,400l. or thereabout to be expended, which will be little more than the ſum neceſſary to complete the navigation between Slane and Navan; that the petitioners have lately cauſed an eſtimate to be made of the neceſſary expenſe of completing ſaid navigation in the manner abovementioned, by which they find that a ſum of 30,000l. or thereabout, over and above the balance unexpended of the ſaid original fund, will be neceſſary to be provided; that of that ſum the petitioners are willing to advance the like proportion required by Parliament on ſimilar occaſions, viz. 20,000l. if Parliament ſhall be pleaſed to grant them the remaining 10,000l. and therefore praying the Houſe will pleaſe to grant them the ſaid ſum of 10,000l. to enable them to complete the ſaid work.

ORDERED,

That the ſaid petition be referred to the conſideration of a committee.

And a committee was appointed accordingly; and they are to meet to-morrow.

A petition of the ſubſcribers for improving the harbour of Arklow and making a navigation from thence to the Meeting's-bridge at the junction of the rivers Avonmore and Avonbeg in the barony of Arklow and county of Wicklow, whoſe names are thereunto ſubſcribed, was preſented to the Houſe and read; ſetting forth, that the petitioners have lately cauſed plans to be made for improving the ſaid harbour and forming the ſaid navigation, and likewiſe eſtimates of the expenſe of carrying each into effect, to which plans and eſtimates they beg leave to refer; that the petitioners are willing to undertake the execution of the harbour in the term of five years to be completed from the 1ſt day of June 1792, receiving an aid or bounty ſimilar to what has been granted to the docks in Dublin, of one half the full expenditure, viz. of 2105l. being one half of the expenſe by the annexed eſtimate; that the petitioners are alſo willing to undertake the making of the ſaid navigation from the town of Arklow to the Meeting's-bridge at the junction of the rivers Avonmore and Avonbeg to be completed within the term of five years from the 1ſt of July 1792, on receiving from Parliament one-third of the expenditure, viz. 5065l. being one-third of the amount of the annexed eſtimate; that the petitioners do not require to receive any part of the ſaid aid, except as they ſhall prove before the commiſſioners of impreſt accounts from time to time the expenditure of their own money, and they then humbly hope to receive a ſum equal to what they ſhall ſo prove to be expended on the harbour of Arklow, ſo as in the end to receive half of the whole expenditure, and alſo to receive a ſum equal to one-half of what they ſhall prove to be expended on the propoſed navigation from Arklow to the Meeting's-bridge, ſo as in the end to receive one-third of the whole expenditure; that the petitioners in conſideration of the ſaid aid do not propoſe to exceed three-pence per ton port dues on coaſting veſſels, or ſix-pence per ton on all other veſſels for the purpoſe of keeping the ſaid harbour in repair, and for canal dues not more than three halfpence per ton per mile for coals, culm, lime, lime-ſtone, mines, minerals, flags, ſtones, bricks, ſand, and ſuch like articles, or two-pence per ton per mile toll on all other goods, and three-halfpence per mile for each paſſenger; and therefore praying aid.

ORDERED,

That the ſaid petition be referred to the conſideration of a committee.

And a committee was appointed accordingly; and they are to meet to-morrow.

And then the Houſe adjourned until to-morrow morning, ten of the clock.

SABBATI, 4° DIE FEBRUARII, 1792.

A PETITION of John Smart, deputy accountant-general, was preſented to the Houſe and read; ſetting forth, that the petitioner, in conſequence of ſeveral orders for papers and accounts for the Houſe, has had very great additional labour; that the petitioner has alſo, with the utmoſt care and attention, ſuperintended the printing of the national accounts; and therefore praying compenſation.

That the ſaid petition do lie on the table for the peruſal of the members.

ORDERED,

That the ſaid petition do lie on the table for the peruſal of the members.

A petition of Anthony Ferguſon, aſſiſtant examinator of cuſtoms, was preſented to the Houſe and read; ſetting forth, that purſuant to orders of the Houſe he has, with great care and pains, prepared and laid before the Houſe various accounts this ſeſſion; and therefore praying compenſation.

ORDERED,

ORDERED,

That the ſaid petition do lie on the table for the peruſal of the members.

A petition of Sir Henry Hartſtonge, Bart. complaining of an undue election and return for the county of Limerick, was preſented to the Houſe and read.

ORDERED,

That the ſaid petition be taken into conſideration on Monday the 27th day of February inſtant, at two of the clock in the afternoon.

ORDERED,

That Mr. Speaker do iſſue his warrant or warrants for ſuch perſons, papers and records as ſhall be thought neceſſary by the ſeveral parties on the hearing of the matter of the ſaid petition.

A petition of Richard Cuthbert, of the city of Dublin, Gent. was preſented to the Houſe and read; ſetting forth, that the petitioner was in the year 1778 poſſeſſed of a large houſe and concerns at Iſland-bridge in the county of Dublin, which the petitioner held under Richard Jones, Eſq; for a long term of years, at the annual rent of 25l.; that in the month of October in the ſame year a committee, conſiſting of five juſtices of the peace for ſaid county, came to the ſaid houſe, and informed the petitioner that an act of parliament had then lately paſſed (viz. 18 Geo. 3. c. 9) whereby they were directed to take into conſideration the ſtate of the Houſes of correction in the ſaid county, in order that proper places might be prepared for the reception of ſuch offenders as ſhould be ordered to hard labour therein by force of the ſaid act, and deſired permiſſion permiſſion to view the ſaid houſe, that they might make their report accordingly; that the ſaid committee having minutely examined the ſame, informed the petitioner that they found the concerns every way ſuitable for the purpoſes of the ſaid act, and that they would empower their chairman, (Robert Sibthorpe, Eſq;) to treat with the petitioner for the purchaſe of the ſame; that purſuant thereto the ſaid Mr. Sibthorpe did enter into treaty with the petitioner, when it was agreed that the petitioner ſhould aſſign and make over to the ſaid Mr. Sibthorpe, in truſt for the county of Dublin, all his intereſt in the premiſes for the ſum of ſixty guineas; that deeds of aſſignment were accordingly prepared by the clerk of the peace, and the petitioner being called on to perfect the ſame the petitioner demanded the ſaid purchaſe money, when he (petitioner) was informed by the ſaid Mr Sibthorpe and the juſtices then preſent, that as Mr. Sibthorpe had accepted the truſt merely as a public officer in truſt for the county, he could not himſelf advance the money, but that the petitioner would certainly be paid by a preſentment from the next term grand jury, purſuant to a power veſted in grand juries by the ſaid ſtatute; that the petitioner finding that the ſaid juſtices were acting under the immediate authority of an act of parliament did not heſitate to comply with their deſire, and having ſigned the deeds, gave up the poſſeſſion of the ſaid houſe and concerns, the petitioner not doubting but that the grand jury would provide for the payment purſuant to the ſaid act; that the petitioner attended (as directed by the ſaid juſtices) at the enſuing term grand jury, in order to receive the ſaid preſentment, when to his great mortification the petitioner was informed by the then foreman, that the grand jury had declined to grant a preſentment for the payment of the petitioner, alleging that as they had not been conſulted on the taking of the houſe they would not provide for the payment, the act of parliament not having having made it compulſory on them ſo to do; that the petitioner being thus diſappointed applied to the ſaid Mr. Sibthorpe, ſtating the hardſhip he laboured under, but received no ſatisfaction, he (Mr. Sibthorpe) alleging that as the grand jury were authorized to preſent for the payment of all reaſonable expenſes incurred by the juſtices in carrying the purpoſes of the ſaid act into execution, and as he had acted merely as a public officer under the direction of the ſaid juſtices (on whom the ſtatute was compulſory) he could not hold himſelf reſponſible to the petitioner; that the petitioner, after having made numerous applications to the ſaid Mr. Sibthorpe, as well as to the enſuing grand juries, all equally ineffectual, the petitioner found himſelf at length involved in a tedious ſuit at law, having been obliged to defend himſelf at a great expenſe againſt the ſeveral actions brought againſt him for the accruing rent of the concerns by his ſaid landlord, which ſuit having (by various delays) laſted ten years, has at length terminated againſt the petitioner, by which the petitioner is not only become liable to all the rent which has accrued, but likewiſe to the repair of the houſe and concerns, which during ſo long a period have fallen into decay, the ſame having lain unoccupied all the time, and the petitioner kept out of the poſſeſſion from the month of October 1778 to the month of October 1791, when the petitioner received from the ſaid Mr. Sibthorpe a written notice of a ſurrender of the premiſes; that the petitioner, finding himſelf thus involved, laid a ſtate of his caſe before the preſent chairman, Robert Day, Eſq; and the magiſtrates aſſembled at the general quarter ſeſſions held for the ſaid county in the month of May laſt, praying relief, when they expreſſed their concern that they were not authorized by any law now in force to redreſs the petitioner, but at the ſame time, having informed themſelves of all the circumſtances of the caſe, were pleaſed to recommend the peculiar hardſhip thereof to the conſideration of his Excellency the Lord Lieutenant, and ſigned a certificate accordingly (as at foot of the ſaid petition) atteſting the truth of the facts in ſaid petition ſtated, which the petitioner annexed to a memorial preſented to his Excellency in the month of June following, praying relief, but no redreſs was in conſequence granted to the petitioner; that the petitioner having been an innocent ſufferer in the whole of this public tranſaction humbly preſumes to throw himſelf upon the benevolence and juſtice of the Houſe, truſting that if it ſhall appear that the caſe of the petitioner is fairly and truly ſtated, and that the petitioner has actually ſuſtained a conſiderable loſs in having ſet his ſaid holding under the authority of the ſaid act, that the Houſe will make good the ſame, and indemnify the petitioner in all the expenſes he has been already put to, as well as in thoſe to which he has become liable in conſequence of his having been deprived of his property, as herein-before ſtated, under the authority of the ſaid act of Parliament; and therefore praying relief.

ORDERED,

That the ſaid petition be referred to the conſideration of a committee.

And a committee was appointed accordingly; and they are to meet on Monday next.

A petition of the preſident and aſſiſtants of the corporation inſtituted for the relief of the poor, and for puniſhing vagabonds and ſturdy beggars in the county of the city of Dublin, under their common ſeal, was preſented to the Houſe and read; ſetting forth, that the charitable inſtitution of which the petitioners are the directors has operated with great and manifeſt manifeſt advantage to this city and the kingdom at large in many reſpects, particularly in affording immediate relief to diſtreſſed objects of every deſcription without recommendation, ſo that in effect it is ſupplemental to every other charity; that from the 8th of November 1773, when the Houſe of Induſtry was opened, to the 25th day of December 1791, the number of perſons received into the houſe amounted to fifty-three thouſand one hundred and ſix, and that there are in the houſe on this day one thouſand five hundred and ſixty; that the average number from the 25th day of December 1790 to the 25th day of December 1791 was one thouſand three hundred and fifty-four, the expenſe of maintaining and cloathing whom, repairs, houſe rent, officers ſalaries, and all contingencies included, amounted to 9327l. 17s. 10d.; that on the 25th day of December 1791 the corporation owed to John La Touche, Eſq; their treaſurer, a balance of 901l. 1s. 5d.; that the ruinous ſtate of the buildings occupied by the objects of this charity induced the Houſe, in the laſt ſeſſion of Parliament, to grant the ſum of 4000l. towards erecting ſuch new buildings as ſhould appear to the Lord Lieutenant to be immediately neceſſary; that his Excellency has been pleaſed, at the deſire of this corporation, to give directions to the Board of Works to enter into a contract for building a dormitory, conſiſting of three ſtories, and containing ſix chambers, each of them one hundred and thirty feet long, twenty feet wide, and thirteen feet high, capable of lodging upwards of ſix hundred perſons, with extenſive ſtores, and a conſiderable part of the wall neceſſary to encloſe the ſame; that the ſaid dormitory has been erected with extraordinary expedition, and to the entire ſatisfaction of the corporation; that upwards of nine hundred perſons muſt ſtill remain expoſed to very imminent danger; and therefore praying ing the Houſe to grant them ſupport for the current year, and alſo for erecting additional buildings.

ORDERED,

That the ſaid petition do lie on the table for the peruſal of the members.

A petition of John Tydd, Eſq; paymaſter of the premiums granted for the inland and canal carriage of corn, malt and flour to the city of Dublin, was preſented to the Houſe and read; ſetting forth, that the buſineſs of ſaid office has conſiderably increaſed for ſome years paſt, and that in conſideration thereof the Houſe has from time to time granted ſums of money to the ſaid paymaſter as a compenſation for his extraordinary trouble in executing ſaid office, and therefore praying reward.

That the ſaid petition do lie on the table for the peruſal of the members.

A petition of Henry Smyth, deputy paymaſter of the premiums granted for the inland carriage of corn, malt and flour to the city of Dublin, was preſented to the Houſe and read; ſetting forth, that the petitioner hath, by the order of the Houſe, made out accounts of all the flour ſent by land-carriage to the city of Dublin from the 24th of June 1790 to the 24th of June 1791, and likewiſe the flour ſent by canal carriage to the city of Dublin during that period, diſtinguiſhing the different counties, the names of the mills in each county, the number of miles from the caſtle of Dublin, the owners names, the quantities in hundreds weight, and the bounties paid for the ſame; which accounts took him up a conſiderable length of time, and were attended with great expenſe, labour and pains to render them complete and correct, as ſaid accounts were collected out of above ſix thouſand different premiums that were paid on corn, malt and flour in the year above-mentioned; and were it not that the petitioner was appriſed ſince laſt ſeſſion of parliament that ſuch accounts would be wanted, he begs leave to aſſure the Houſe he would not have been able to complete the ſame in proper time; that the Houſe hath from time to time granted ſums of money to the petitioner for his trouble and expenſe in preparing ſaid accounts, and therefore praying compenſation.

ORDERED,

That the ſaid petition do lie on the table for the peruſal of the members.

ORDERED,

(allowing 500l. as nearly the annual average of inſolvencies of the tax on houſes) which ſum being deducted from the debt now due will leave a deficiency of 3423l. 1s. 8½d. to diſcharge which the petitioners have no other means but the often experienced bounty and known humanity of the Houſe; and they beg leave further to ſtate, that the annual income of the corporation falls ſhort of the yearly expenditure thereof by about 8000l. the whole of ſuch income conſiſting of the ſmall eſtate and houſe taxes before mentioned, excluſive of the bounty of Parliament, and therefore praying relief.

A petition of the ſubſcribers for making a navigable canal from Ballyſhannon to Belleck and the lower Lough Earne, through the baronies of Tyrhagh in the county of Donegal, and Meghereboy in the county of Fermanagh, and improving the navigation from the lower to the upper Lough Earne by the town of Enniſkillen, through the baronies of Maghereboy, Clonawly and Tureſkennedy in the county of Fermanagh, and thereforward to the town of Belturbet by the river Earne through the baronies of Knocknini and Coole in the county of Fermanagh, and the baronies of Tullaghgarry and Loughtee in the county of Cavan, was preſented to the Houſe and read; ſetting forth, that the petitioners have lately cauſed plans to be made for executing the ſaid navigation, and likewiſe eſtimates of the expenſe of carrying it into effect; that the petitioners, in a former application to Parliament conceived the expenſe would not exceed 15,300l. and under that idea petitioned for and obtained a bounty of 5100l. being one-third of the amount of the ſuppoſed total expenditure; that petitioners now finding, according to the annexed eſtimates, that the probable total expenſe will be 26,722l. 10s. in place of 15,300l. humbly pray for an additional aid of 3807l. 10s. being one-third of the additional ſum that will have to be expended according to the eſtimates annexed to the ſaid petition; that on receiving this aid, the petitioners will undertake to execute the ſaid work in ſix years from the 1ſt day of July 1792; that the petitioners do not require to receive any part of ſaid additional aid except as they ſhall prove before the commiſſioners of impreſt accounts from time to time an exceſs of total expenſe above 15,300l.

15,300l. and then they humbly hope to receive a ſum equal to one-half of what they ſhall thus prove to be expended, ſo as in the end to receive one-third of the whole expenditure; that the petitioners, in conſideration of the ſaid aid, do not propoſe to exceed a toll of three-halfpence per ton per mile on coals, culm, lime and all mines and minerals, or two-pence per ton per mile on all other articles; and therefore praying aid.

OF THE

Houſe of Commons.

LUNÆ, 6° DIE FEBRUARII, 1792.

THE Right Honourable Mr. Beresford preſented to the Houſe, purſuant to their order,

An account of the number of gallons of each ſpecies of ſpirits imported from Lady-day 1791 to Michaelmas 1791, with the amount of the duty payable thereon. reſpectively, diſtinguiſhing how much of that duty ariſes from the increaſe of duty impoſed upon each kind of imported ſpirits reſpectively by the act of laſt ſeſſion.

ALSO,

An account of the number of gallons of each ſpecies of ſpirits imported from Michaelmas 1791 to Chriſtmas 1791, with the amount of the duty payable thereon reſpectively, diſtinguiſhing how much of that duty ariſes from the increaſe of duty impoſed upon each kind of imported ſpirits reſpectively by the act of laſt ſeſſion.

AND ALSO,

An account of the quantity of ſtrong beer brewed and ſpirits diſtilled in the city of Dublin for the laſt three quarters of the year ending at Chriſtmas 1790, and alſo for the three quarters of the year ending Chriſtmas 1791, diſtinguiſhing each quarter.

The titles whereof were read, and the accounts ordered to lie on the table for the peruſal of the members.

A member returned upon a new writ took the oaths, made and ſubſcribed the declaration, and took and ſubſcribed the oath of abjuration, according to the laws made for thoſe purpoſes.

A petition of the high ſheriff and grand jury of the county of Dublin at Hillary term 1792, on behalf of themſelves and the ſeveral landholders of ſaid county, was preſented to the Houſe and read; ſetting forth, that it was found expedient and neceſſary to erect a new gaol for the county of Dublin, the preſent gaol being in every reſpect inſufficient to contain and keep ſecurely the number of priſoners generally committed thereto; that the ſum of 8511l. was at firſt propoſed to build the ſaid new gaol, the plan and eſtimate for which were approved of by the grand jury of Michaelmas term 1785, and the ſaid ſum has at ſundry times been preſented accordingly; that on conſulting the late Mr. Howard, and other gentlemen of knowledge and experience, the plan then approved of

was

was conſidered extremely deficient in point of wholeſome accommodation and ſafe keeping for the great number of convicts tranſmitted from all parts of the kingdom to the gaol of ſaid county under rule of tranſportation, and who frequently remain there a conſiderable time at a very heavy charge upon the petitioners; that a new and approved plan ſufficiently capacious and convenient for every purpoſe was introduced, and with the approbation of the court of King's Bench was acceded to by the grand jury; that the public works undertaken and executing in the metropolis and its vicinity have ſo enhanced the prices of workmanſhip and materials, that to complete the gaol according to the ſaid new plan will require a ſum not leſs than 18,000l. beſides a perpetual annual charge upon the county for a conſtant ſupply of water; that under theſe circumſtances the petitioners conceive it juſt and equitable that the public in general ſhould contribute towards completing a priſon which for a national convenience they have been induced to enlarge far beyond what would be neceſſary for the local purpoſes of their county; and therefore praying the Houſe to grant the ſum of 5000l. towards completing the ſaid national priſon, ſubject to ſuch controul as Parliament may think proper.

ORDERED,

That the ſaid petition do lie on the table for the peruſal of the members.

ALSO,

ALSO,

A liſt of the number of popiſh eccleſiaſticks in this kingdom who have regiſtered their names, abodes, pariſh, &c. with the regiſter of the dioceſe where their abode is, purſuant to an act paſſed in the twenty-firſt and twenty-ſecond of George the Third, ſpecifying the number in each dioceſe from the paſſing of the act in 1782 to the 1ſt of February 1792.

The titles whereof were read, and the returns ordered to lie on the table for the peruſal of the members.

The order of the day, that this Houſe be called over, being upon motion read,

ORDERED,

That this Houſe be called over on Wedneſday next.

The Right Honourable Mr. Prime Serjeant reported from the committee appointed to inſpect the public accounts and papers laid before this Houſe, that the committee had met and examined the ſaid accounts, a general ſtate whereof is contained in the report, which he read in his place, and afterwards delivered in at the table, together with the ſeveral accounts and abſtracts, where the ſame were read.

OF THE

Houſe of Commons.

MERCURII, 8° DIE FEBRUARII, 1792.

THE order of the day, that this Houſe will reſolve itſelf into a committee of the whole Houſe, to further examine whether the late regulations for encouraging the brewery and the preventing the exceſſive uſe of ſpirituous liquors have had the deſired effect, being upon motion read,

RESOLVED,

That this Houſe will to-morrow reſolve itſelf into a committee of the whole Houſe to take the ſaid matter into further conſideration.

ORDERED,

That the petitioner, complaining of an undue election and return for the county of Limerick, do by himſelf or his agent deliver to the ſitting member or his agent liſts of the perſons intended by the petitioner to be objected to who voted for the ſitting member, giving in the ſaid liſts the ſeveral heads of objection, and diſtinguiſhing the ſame againſt the names of the voters objected to, on or before the 13th day of February inſtant.

The Houſe, according to order, reſolved itſelf into a committee of the whole Houſe to conſider of ways and means for raiſing the ſupply granted to his Majeſty; and after ſome time ſpent therein Mr. Speaker reſumed the chair, and the Right Honourable Mr. Maſon reported from the committee that they had come to ſeveral reſolutions in the matter to them referred, that he was ready to report when the Houſe will pleaſe to receive the ſame, and that he was directed by the committee to deſire leave to ſit again.

ORDERED,

That the ſaid report be received to-morrow.

RESOLVED,

That this Houſe will to-morrow reſolve itſelf into a committee of the whole Houſe to conſider further of ways and means for raiſing the ſupply granted to his Majeſty.

A petition of the inhabitants of the town of Belfaſt, convened in the town-houſe by public advertiſement, whoſe names are thereunto ſubſcribed, was offered to be preſented to the Houſe.

A motion

A motion was made, and the queſtion being put, that the ſaid petition be received,

It was carried in the affirmative.

And the ſaid petition was read; ſetting forth, that their Roman Catholic brethren have long been and ſtill are in a degraded ſituation, from numerous, reſtrictive and penal ſtatutes hanging over them; and conſcious as the petitioners are that the proſperity, happineſs and improvement of this country muſt eventually depend on an union of intereſts among all religious denominations of the inhabitants, the petitioners therefore pray that the Houſe will be pleaſed to repeal all penal and reſtrictive ſtatutes at preſent in exiſtence againſt the Roman Catholics of Ireland, that they may be thus reſtored to the rank and conſequence of citizens.

A motion was made, and the queſtion being put, that the ſaid petition do lie on the table for the peruſal of the members,

It was carried in the affirmative.

The Right Honourable Mr. Beresford preſented to the Houſe, purſuant to their order,

An account of all articles imported into Ireland of the growth, produce and manufacture of the Eaſt Indies, from the 25th of March 1790 to Michaelmas 1791, diſtinguiſhing the quantity and value of ſuch goods.

The title whereof was read, and the account ordered to lie on the table for the peruſal of the members.

A petition

A petition of the common brewers of the city of Dublin, under their corporate ſeal, was preſented to the Houſe and read; ſetting forth, that it is with infinite reluctance they feel themſelves conſtrained to treſpaſs on the Houſe, after ſo recent an experience of its interpoſitions in favour of the brewery during the laſt ſeſſion; in the progreſs of thoſe good offices the Houſe then adopted certain regulations, founded on the principle of giving deciſive advantages to the brewery, a meaſure which the wiſdom of Parliament had recourſe to as the only efficient means of preſerving to this country the ſhattered remnant of the health and morals of the lower orders of its people; ſuch exertions for the general good naturally demand the petitioners warmeſt gratitude in common with that of every order in ſociety whoſe well being they are inſeparably connected with; it is, however, to be lamented that the good intentions of Parliament have not been crowned with their deſerved ſucceſs, and therefore it is that the petitioners humbly inform the Houſe that the late regulations are inadequate to their intended purpoſes, that in many reſpects they have proved deficient, and finally that the brewery has yet to look for deciſive advantages; that the quantity of beer and ale brewed in this city has not much encreaſed ſince the paſſing of the late revenue act, nor has the quantity of ſpirits diſtilled in this city in the ſame period conſiderably decreaſed, they have therefore ſtrong reaſon to think that the exceſſive uſe of ſpirituous liquors has as yet ſuffered no diminution in the capital; that the operation of the ſaid act has tended to plant the diſtillery in cities and great towns, for the purpoſes of better ſecuring his Majeſty's duties, and the eaſier collection thereof; that from a bounty of 16l. per cent. allowed upon the working of large ſtills and ſeveral other local advantages, ſuch as the ſaving of carriage and of factorage, &c. the metropolis is now become the principal principal ſeat of the diſtillery of Ireland, nine new ones being added to the liſt ſince the laſt ſeſſion, four whereof at leaſt were breweries previous to that period; in Belfaſt that of Cranſton and Co. has ſuffered the ſame fate; that in conſequence of the great conſumption of malt in the diſtilleries of the capital the price thereof has riſen beyond any thing hitherto known, that article having been within this month ſo high as twenty-four ſhillings per barrel; nor is the demand for diſtillation confined as formerly to the middling and lower qualities of that material, on the contrary, as it is found that the better ſorts yield proportionably the greateſt quantity of ſpirit, it becomes of courſe more advantageous to work them, hence the diſtiller finds it his intereſt to outbid the brewer not only in malt but barley, a circumſtance which in its effects bears ſeverely againſt the porter brewery, which is ſolely carried on in the capital; that the malſter finding it his intereſt to accommodate the manufacture of malt to the purpoſes of diſtillation which requires low drying in preference to that of the brewery which requires more fire, the brewer is under the neceſſity of malting a great quantity of what he conſumes himſelf, or of putting up with that which is deſtined for the ſtill, a principal reaſon why our malt liquors have not yet attained that degree of excellence which they would otherwiſe arrive at if the material had been fitted for the purpoſes of the brewery; that notwithſtanding a law is made to prevent the malſter from obtaining a bounty on malt fraudulenty or badly manufactured, yet for want of proper inſpectors to compel the operation of that law it has not had the intended effect; that from the diſpoſition of the lower orders to ſpirit drinking, the diſtiller is enabled to inſiſt on prompt payment, nor has he the leaſt injury to apprehend from raiſing the price ſo as to keep pace with the material; it is equally true that he can bring the commodity to market in the ſpace of three weeks or leſs, whereas the porter or ſtrong beer brewer cannot diſpoſe of his for ſeveral months; he muſt after that even give credit, and there have been many inſtances wherein he has been obliged to ſuffer his property to be applied to the payment of the ſpirit licenſe; theſe inconveniencies he muſt put up with; firſt, becauſe the predilection of the lower claſs inclines them more ſtrongly to the uſe of ſpirits than of malt liquor; ſecondly, becauſe of a prejudice againſt the home brewery; and thirdly, becauſe he has to meet a foreign competitor in his own market; theſe reaſons equally apply againſt his raiſing the price, and abſolutely interdict it, inſomuch that the brewers of Dublin are at this time working to a loſs; that to remedy the latter of thoſe grievances it would be highly neceſſary to lay an additional duty on the importation of Britiſh beer, for the further protection of the Iriſh brewery, and to reduce at the ſame time the import duty on hops; that by a clauſe in the late act for the better encouraging the growth of Iriſh hops thoſe of Flanders cannot be made uſe of in this kingdom until the middle price of Britiſh is at 9l. per hundred; that the petitioners humbly conceive the ſaid middle price is taken too high, and that if lowered to 6l. the brewery would be conſiderably benefited thereby; nor is it poſſible that any injury could accrue to the growth of that article in this country, as the quantity raiſed is ſo inconſiderable as to be unworthy of becoming the ſubject of a reſtricting clauſe, the greateſt annual produce not as yet exceeding twenty bags; that by the new regulations the exciſe is collected by the gallon of $217\frac{6}{10}$ cubical inches in place of the legal gallon of $272\frac{1}{4}$, by which that part of the exciſe called the additional duty had been levied previous to the late act; in this the brewer ſuſtains a loſs of 7d. on each barrel of 32 legal gallons; that in conſequence of

ſeveral other regulations, ſuch as the neceſſity of obtaining permits, certificates, &c. the brewery is yet conſiderably harraſſed, and therefore the petitioners humbly ſubmit that if all exciſe was taken off the liquor, and an equivalent placed upon the malt in the firſt inſtance in lieu thereof, this great national object, the brewery of Ireland, would then be placed on ſuch a baſis as in a ſhort time to arrive at that degree of proſperity which it exhibits in the ſiſter kingdom; and the petitioners cannot have a doubt that as a ſyſtem for promoting the more general uſe of malt liquor is conſidered as the only means of abridging the numerous vices of the lower orders of the people, and of producing induſtry and due ſubordination among them (as has been already proved by the example of Great Britain) the Houſe will adopt ſuch meaſures as will give to the brewery ſubſtantial and deciſive advantages; and therefore praying the Houſe to take their caſe into conſideration, and admit them to be heard by themſelves or by their counſel if it ſhould ſeem neceſſary.

ORDERED,

That the ſaid petition do lie on the table for the peruſal of the members.

ORDERED,

That the ſaid petition be referred to the committee of the whole Houſe to whom it was referred to conſider further of ways and means for raiſing the ſupply granted to his Majeſty.

ORDERED,

That the ſaid petitioners be heard by their counſel before the ſaid committee on the matter of the ſaid petition, if they ſhall think fit.

ORDERED,

ORDERED,

That Mr. Trant, Mr. Brophy and Mr. Whyte, diſtillers, do attend the committee of the whole Houſe to whom it was referred to conſider further of ways and means for raiſing the ſupply granted to his Majeſty, to-morrow.

The Houſe being informed that an officer attended at the door, he was called in, and at the bar preſented to the Houſe, purſuant to their order,

An account of money received from the treaſury for the uſe of the preſbyterian miniſters of Ulſter for one year ending at Michaelmas 1791, and of the ſhare it made to each miniſter for that time.

The title whereof was read, and the account ordered to lie on the table for the peruſal of the members.

The Houſe being informed that an officer attended at the door, he was called in, and at the bar preſented to the Houſe, purſuant to their order,

An account of all ſums of money received from the treaſury for the uſe of the preſbyterian miniſters called Seceders for one year ending at Michaelmas 1791, and alſo the amount of each miniſter's ſhare out of the ſame in that time.

The title whereof was read, and the account ordered to lie on the table for the peruſal of the members.

The order of the day, that this Houſe be called over, being upon motion read,

ORDERED,

ORDERED,

That this Houſe be called over on Saturday next.

A motion was made, and the queſtion being put, that leave be given to bring in a bill to repeal all ſuch acts of Parliament as forbid or prevent the importation of articles, the growth, produce or manufacture of countries lying beyond the Cape of Good Hope, from the place of their growth, produce or manufacture; and that Mr. George Ponſonby and the Right Honourable Mr. Grattan do prepare and bring in the ſame,

It paſſed in the negative.

And the Houſe having continued ſitting until paſt one of the clock on Thurſday morning the 9th day of February inſtant, adjourned until ten of the clock of the ſaid day.

A petition of the governors and guardians of the hoſpital for the relief of poor lying-in women in Dublin, under their common ſeal, was preſented to the Houſe and

and read; ſetting forth, that the petitioners have within theſe ten years laſt preceding erected twenty-ſix additional beds for the reception of patients, and are now preparing to add eight more, the numbers applying for relief having from one thouſand and ſeventy in the year 1781 increaſed to one thouſand ſix hundred and ſeventy-one in the year 1791; that by unremitting aſſiduity the petitioners confidently hope, from the protection and benevolence of the public, to avoid in future ſoliciting ſupport or aid from Parliament; that if certain lots of ground on the angle of Granby-row and Great Britain-ſtreet, now partly waſte, were built on in the uſual cloſe manner as in this city, the influx of air into ſaid hoſpital would be ſo intirely impeded as to materially injure the health of the patients, and that fevers and other contagious diſorders among one thouſand ſeven hundred perſons can only be prevented by conſtant diligence and cleanlineſs and the moſt perfect ventilation, and that ſtabling or other nuiſances would be evidently prejudicial; that the petitioners are willing to become purchaſers for ſaid grounds or tenements, with their appurtenances, under ſuch valuation as may by the commiſſioners for making wide ſtreets and a jury be judged juſt and expedient, and that the petitioners propoſe to erect thereon an infirmary, which is abſolutely neceſſary, and likewiſe a chapel correſpondent to the buildings already placed in Cavendiſh-row on the eaſt ſide of ſaid hoſpital, which will be an ornament to the metropolis and highly ſalutary to the patients, as the ſpace now occupied by the chapel (being two ſtories in heighth) and its anti-room may be then converted into wards to contain thirty additional beds; that the petitioners alſo propoſe that the pavement of Granby-row ſhould be continued of the breadth of eighty feet, and that ſo much of the angular ground at the junction of Great Britain-ſtreet and Granby-row ſhould be laid open in ſtreet as is now done and executed at the extremity of Cavendiſh-row, and that a large brick houſe now ſtanding on ſaid premiſes ſhould be removed, and the lodge or intended buildings of the hoſpital recede equal to the building or wing on the eaſtern ſide; that the petitioners propoſe to be allowed to iſſue debentures bearing an intereſt not exceeding 5l. per cent. per annum for ſuch ſum or ſums as may be judged neceſſary, and ſolely applicable to the payment of ſuch purchaſe of ground, &c. as aforeſaid, and for which the interpoſition of Parliament is neceſſary; that the petitioners are ready to ſubmit a map of the premiſes, and therefore praying relief.

That the ſaid petition be referred to the conſideration of a committee.

And a committee was appointed accordingly; and they are to meet to-morrow.

The Houſe, according to order, reſolved itſelf into a committee of the whole Houſe, to take into conſideration the motion, that an humble addreſs be preſented to his Majeſty, beſeeching his Majeſty to take into his conſideration the ſituation of the preſbyterian miniſters of this kingdom, and to order ſuch further proviſion for them as in his wiſdom and bounty he ſhall think fit, and that this Houſe will make good the ſame; and after ſome time ſpent therein Mr. Speaker reſumed the chair, and Mr. James Stewart reported from the committee that they had come to a reſolution in the matter to them referred, and that he was ready to report when the Houſe will pleaſe to receive the ſame.

That the Right Honourable Mr. Chancellor of the Exchequer do attend his Excellency the Lord Lieutenant with the two last-mentioned bills, and desire that they may be certified into Great Britain pursuant to the act for that purpose, and then returned to this House.

ORDERED,

That leave be given to bring in a bill to disable any person who shall have in his own name, or in the name of any person or persons in trust for him or for his benefit, any office or place of profit whatsoever under the crown, created after a certain time, from being chosen a member of or from sitting or voting in the the preſent or any future Houſe of Commons which ſhall be hereafter ſummoned; and that Mr. Forbes, the Right Honourable Mr. Grattan, the Right Honourable Mr. O'Neill, Sir Edward Newenham and Mr. Hardy do prepare and bring in the ſame.

A petition of the ſovereign, bailiffs, burgeſſes, freemen and other inhabitants of the town and borough of Athlone, whoſe names are thereunto ſubſcribed, was preſented to the Houſe and read; ſetting forth, that the petitioners anceſtors, in the beginning of the reign of his Majeſty King James the Firſt, for and in expreſs conſideration of the truth and loyalty of the ſaid town at all times, and of the many good and faithful ſervices performed by the inhabitants in the then late rebellion, had obtained from his Majeſty aforeſaid a charter, endowing them with many diſtinguiſhing liberties, privileges and immunities, which they and their ſucceſſors have ever ſince enjoyed in their full extent and efficacy, as they have invariably continued examples of loyalty, truth and affection to the King and government of their country; that by a clauſe of the ſaid charter the magiſtracy of this borough is entitled to an excluſive juriſdiction within its precincts, the ſheriffs, juſtices of peace, conſtables, and all other officers of the adjoining counties, being expreſsly forbidden to intermeddle or execute their offices within the ſaid precincts; that by another clauſe of ſaid charter it is declared, that half the profits, perquiſites, iſſues, cuſtoms, tolls, &c. accruing from the markets and fairs of ſaid borough ſhall belong to the corporation of Athlone, the other moiety being reſerved to his Majeſty's caſtle or houſe of Athlone; that by another clauſe of the ſame charter, the ſovereign, bailiffs, burgeſſes and freemen of ſaid borough are declared for ever free of and from all manner of tolls, taxes, &c.

except ſuch cuſtoms as ſhall be payable to his Majeſty for wool, cloth, or yarn commodities, and this not only within ſaid borough, but alſo throughout all ports, havens and places within the realm of Ireland; that by an act 1 Geo. 3. chapter 17. ſect. 29, 30, the chief magiſtrate of every town corporate is required under a penalty to cauſe a ſchedule of all duties, tolls or cuſtoms of ſaid town to be hung up in the market-houſe thereof, and it is enacted, that if any farmer of tolls or toll-gatherer ſhall exact from or compel any perſon to pay any duty, toll, cuſtom or perquiſite not compriſed in ſaid ſchedule, ſuch perſon ſhall forfeit five pounds, &c.; that in conſideration of all the above recited privileges and immunities in all former acts for repairing the great road leading from Kinnegad to Athlone, and for empowering directors to erect gates and levy tolls thereon, a ſaving clauſe was introduced for the borough of Athlone, and ſuch gates were always erected beyond the precincts of ſaid borough, but in the laſt ſeſſion of Parliament an act paſſed for the above purpoſe, wherein, through inadvertancy, as is humbly preſumed, the ſaving clauſe was omitted, in conſequence of which three gates have been erected in the centre of the borough at the immediate entrance of the town, whereby all the avenues leading to and through the town of Athlone are blocked up on the Leinſter ſide, an oppreſſive toll, unauthoriſed by the magiſtracy, is levied on two roads that do not in any manner directly lead from Kinnegad to Athlone, and that have ever been made and repaired by preſentment only, on account of which farmers and others travelling to and from the extenſive province of Connaught turn aſide from their uſual route, whereby the town is in general materially injured, and the tolls and cuſtoms, the ſole ſupport of the corporation, conſiderably reduced; by the ſame clauſe the farmers of the neighbourhood are induced to ſend their proviſions to other markets, whence it neceſſarily happens, that the quantity being diminiſhed the price is enhanced, to the very great diſtreſs of the poorer inhabitants, and ſtill more of his Majeſty's garriſon, who can have no other ſource of proviſion than the public market; that in painful aggravation of all theſe circumſtances the petitioners have the mortification of ſeeing their chartered rights infringed by the impoſition of this tax; and therefore praying relief.

ORDERED,

That the ſaid petition do lie on the table for the peruſal of the members.

ORDERED,

That leave be given to bring in a bill to amend an act paſſed in the thirty-firſt year of his preſent Majeſty's reign, entitled an act to amend an act for improving the turnpike road leading from Kinnegad to Athlone; and that Mr. Handcock and Lord Viſcount Delvin do prepare and bring in the ſame.

A petition of the ſovereign, burgeſſes and principal inhabitants of the town of Belfaſt, under their common ſeal, was preſented to the Houſe and read; ſetting forth, that the petitioners are convinced by the experience of more than four years that the law paſſed in the year 1787 for regulating the baking trade has not been productive of the beneficial effects to the community intended by the legiſlature; that though the

the evident and avowed intention of the law was to excite a competition amongſt bakers, yet in the town of Belfaſt, where there are forty-eight regiſtred bakers, its operation has had no ſuch effect; that at the preſent period, when wheat and flour are much cheaper than they were ſome months ago, the price of bread of every quality is not diminiſhed; that as the magiſtrate has no power of fixing an aſſize, except for penny bread, the poor houſe-keeper is much aggrieved and complains loudly of the grievance; that the petitioners humbly apprehend that nothing can remedy the evil complained of but reſtoring by law to the magiſtrate the power of fixing the aſſize of bread proportionally to the price of wheat and flour, or of fixing a particular price weekly (as the petitioners are informed is the practice in London) on loaves of particular weight and quality, ſo that the price (but not the weight) may vary in proportion to the average price of wheat and flour; and therefore praying relief.

VENERIS, 9° DIE MARTII, 1792.

THE Right Honourable Mr. Attorney General, according to order, reported from the committee of the whole Houſe to whom it was referred to take into conſideration the report from the committee appointed to enquire into the preſent ſtate of the north and ſouth walls, and the ſtate of the river between the ſaid walls, the reſolutions which the committee had directed him to report to the Houſe, which he read in his place, and afterwards delivered in at the table, where the ſame were read, and are as follow:

the trade and commerce of the port of Dublin, being choaked up with mud and filth, and that the walls bounding and encloſing the ſaid river are in a dangerous and ruinous condition.

2. Resolved,

That it is the opinion of this committee, that for the convenience of ſhipping frequenting the ſaid port, and the quick and eaſy lading and diſcharging their cargoes, the ſaid walls ought to be rebuilt or ſubſtantially and effectually repaired, and that the ſaid river ought to be drudged and deepened, for the ſafe and convenient lying of the ſaid ſhipping.

That it appears to this committee to be expedient that the care of the ſaid river and the walls bounding the ſame ſhould be veſted in the Ballaſt-office corporation, and that a ſufficient fund ſhould be eſtabliſhed for the purpoſe of carrying on and completing the ſaid works.

9. Resolved,

That it is the opinion of this committee, that the landing and laying down timber, boards, bricks, ſtones, ſlates and other building materials, on the ſaid walls or quays, have done conſiderable damage to the ſame; and that the owners of ſuch timber, boards, bricks, ſtones, ſlates and other building materials, having great convenience and benefit by the execution of the ſaid works,

The Houſe, according to order, reſolved itſelf into a committee of the whole Houſe to take into further conſideration a bill to explain and amend an act paſſed in the twenty-ninth year of his Majeſty's reign, entitled an act for the promotion and encouragement of inland navigation, ſo far only as reſpects the navigation from Belturbet by Lough Erne to the ſea, and to conſtitute certain perſons therein-named a corporation for the purpoſe of carrying on and completing ſaid navigation; and after ſome time ſpent therein Mr. Speaker reſumed the chair, and Mr. Corry reported from the committee that they had gone through the ſaid bill, and that he was ready to report when the Houſe will pleaſe to receive the ſame.

ORDERED,

That the ſaid report be received to-morrow.

The Right Honourable Mr. Maſon preſented to the Houſe, according to order,

A bill for aſcertaining the manner in which malt ſhall be ſold; which was received and read the firſt time.

ORDERED,

That the ſaid bill be read a ſecond time to-morrow.

A petition of the bakers of the city of Dublin was preſented to the Houſe and read; ſetting forth, that the

the petitioners, a much aggrieved body of men, humbly ſupplicate the Houſe for relief and protection; that by an act paſſed in the year 1778, for regulating the baking trade in the city of Dublin, it was enacted that the baker ſhould have an allowance of 10s. for baking each quarter of wheat or flour, which allowance intended them by the legiſlature petitioners humbly ſtate that they do not receive, by reaſon of the unequal manner in which flour is calculated in ſtriking the aſſize of bread, and alſo by the great advance in all the neceſſaries of life and the various articles requiſite for carrying on their trade; that from various experiments made in England by Governor Pownall, and in this kingdom, viz. in 1772 by Alderman Forbes, in 1774 by Doctor Clement, and in 1782 by Alderman Warren and Travers Hartley, Eſq; all of which can be laid before the Houſe, it is found that the real produce of forty ſtones of wheat, or of twenty-eight and one-half ſtones of flour, made into good houſehold bread, does not on an average exceed thirty-five and one-half ſtones weight; that by the aforeſaid act the baker is obliged to give thirty-ſeven and one-half ſtones of good houſehold bread for each forty ſtones of wheat, two ſtones of bread beyond the real or poſſible average produce of ſaid quantity being charged to the baker in conſideration of the value of the bran and pollard contained therein; that by the ſaid act twenty-eight and one-half ſtones of flour, inſtead of thirty ſtones, as ſhould be, are ordered in ſtriking the aſſize of bread to be taken and conſidered as equal to forty ſtones of wheat, in conſequence of which the baker is obliged for every twenty-eight and one-half ſtones of flour to give thirty-ſeven and one-half ſtones of bread, which quantity of bread it will on an average require thirty ſtones of flour to produce, as fully proved by the aforeſaid experiments; that at the time the ſaid act paſſed the market of Dublin was a great part ſupplied by wheat, in conſequence whereof the

the above unequal regulation as to flour was not at the time ſo heavily felt by the bakers; that ſince ſaid period flour-mills have ſo much encreaſed, and the quantity of flour ſent to Dublin is ſo greatly augmented, that at this day nearly the whole of the conſumption of the metropolis is ſupplied by flour ſent from ſaid mills, and but a very ſmall portion from wheat brought to and ſold in this city; that in conſequence of ſaid change, and the petitioners being obliged for the moſt part to bake from flour brought as aforeſaid, and for every twenty-eight and one-half ſtones weight of ſame to give much more bread than ſaid quantity of flour can poſſibly produce, they find themſelves daily reducing to ſuch a ſtate of indigence, that unleſs relieved by the Houſe they will be unable to ſupport themſelves and families; the petitioners ſubmit theſe matters to the conſideration of the Houſe, humbly praying that the miſtake in the aforeſaid act as to flour may be corrected, and that it may be enacted that in ſtriking the aſſize for houſehold bread thirty ſtones of all kinds of flour bought by the bakers ſhall be deemed equal to forty ſtones of wheat, or to grant ſuch relief as will enable petitioners to carry on a trade eſſentially neceſſary to the public.

That the ſaid petition be referred to the conſideration of a committee.

And a committee was appointed accordingly; and they are to meet to-morrow.

Mr. Marcus Beresford, according to order, reported from the committee of the whole Houſe to whom it was referred to take into conſideration a bill to remove doubts doubts touching the validity of mortgages of lands taken by aliens, that they had gone through the ſaid bill paragraph by paragraph, and made ſeveral amendments therein, which he read in his place, and afterwards delivered in at the table.

And the amendments were once read throughout, and then a ſecond time; and upon the queſtion being thereupon ſeverally put were agreed to by the Houſe.

ORDERED,

That the ſaid bill with the amendments be engroſſed.

Mr. Marcus Beresford, according to order, reported from the committee of the whole Houſe to whom it was referred to take into conſideration a bill to explain and amend and render more effectual an act of the twenty-ſeventh of the King, for the better collection of his Majeſty's revenue ariſing from forfeited recognizances, and alſo an act to amend the ſaid act and to extend the proviſions thereof, and for enlarging the time for John Howard Kyan, Eſq; to erect a ſmelting houſe and flatting mill on the lands of Ballymurtagh or Cronebawn in the county of Wicklow, that they had gone through the ſaid bill paragraph by paragraph, and made ſeveral amendments therein, which he read in his place, and afterwards delivered in at the table.

ORDERED,

That the ſaid bill with the amendments be engroſſed.

The Right Honourable Mr. Chancellor of the Exchequer reported from the committee appointed to enquire into the ſtate of the Houſe of Induſtry, the report and reſolutions which the committee had directed him to report to the Houſe, which he read in his place, and afterwards delivered in at the table, where the ſame were read; and the ſaid reſolutions are as follow:

1. RESOLVED,

That it is the opinion of this committee, that the governors of the Houſe of Induſtry have diſcharged the truſt repoſed in them with fidelity and advantage to the public.

2. RESOLVED,

That it is the opinion of this committee, that the variety of objects placed under the care and management of the ſaid governors have impeded the purpoſes of the original inſtitution of the ſaid charity, and that from the want of neceſſary accommodations the objects of charity and thoſe deſerving puniſhment have not been kept ſufficiently diſtinct and ſeparate.

3. RESOLVED,

That it is the opinion of this committee, that tranſferring the lunaticks from the ſaid Houſe of Induſtry to Swift's Hoſpital will be of great public advantage, and that a ſum for that purpoſe has been granted this ſeſſion of Parliament.

4. RESOLVED,

That it is the opinion of this committee, that placing or transferring the different deſcriptions of ſick perſons from from the ſaid Houſe of Induſtry into medical hoſpitals would afford great care and relief to the ſaid charity, and be of conſiderable public ſervice.

5. RESOLVED,

That it is the opinion of this committee, that it would be expedient to conſtitute a lock-hoſpital, for the purpoſe of receiving venereal patients from the Houſe of Induſtry; and that ſuch inſtitution, provided it ſhall be open to all perſons applying for relief, will be of eſſential public ſervice.

And the ſaid reſolutions were once read throughout, and then a ſecond time; and upon the queſtion being thereupon ſeverally put were agreed to by the Houſe.

A motion was made, that an humble addreſs be preſented to his Excellency the Lord Lieutenant, that he will be pleaſed to lay before his Majeſty the humble deſire of this Houſe, that his Majeſty will be pleaſed to order a further ſum of money, not exceeding 4000l. to be paid to the governors of the Houſe of Induſtry, to be laid out in building the ſaid houſe, and that this Houſe will make good the ſame.

RESOLVED,

That this Houſe will to-morrow reſolve itſelf into a committee of the whole Houſe to take the ſaid motion into conſideration.

An engroſſed bill for continuing and amending an act, entitled an act for regulating the iſſuing of licenſes for the ſale of ſpirituous liquors by retail, and for remedying the abuſes which have ariſen from the immoderate immoderate uſe of ſuch liquors, was read the third time.

An engroſſed clauſe was offered as a rider to be added to the ſaid bill.

The ſaid clauſe was read once, and then a ſecond time.

ORDERED,

That the ſaid clauſe be read a third time to-morrow.

ORDERED,

That leave be given to bring in a bill for the further encouragement of the fiſheries on the coaſts of this kingdom; and that the Right Honourable Mr. Conyngham, the Right Honourable Mr. Beresford and Mr. Corry do prepare and bring in the ſame.

The Right Honourable Mr. Conyngham preſented to the Houſe, according to order,

A bill for the further encouragement of the fiſheries on the coaſts of this kingdom; which was received and read the firſt time.

ORDERED,

That the ſaid bill be read a ſecond time to-morrow.

Mr. Graydon, according to order, reported from the committee of the whole Houſe, to whom it was referred to take into conſideration a bill to prevent the exceſſive price of coals in the city of Dublin, and for other purpoſes, that they had gone through the ſaid bill bill paragraph by paragraph, and made ſeveral amendments therein, which he read in his place and afterwards delivered in at the table.

And the amendments were once read throughout, and then a ſecond time; and upon the queſtion being thereupon ſeverally put were agreed to by the Houſe.

ORDERED,

That the ſaid bill with the amendments be engroſſed.

A petition of ſeveral officers of the Houſe, whoſe names are thereunto ſubſcribed, was preſented to the Houſe and read; ſetting forth, that a conſiderable portion of the fees due to the officers of the Houſe in the laſt and preſent ſeſſion of Parliament ſtill remain undiſcharged; and therefore praying the Houſe will in their goodneſs take their caſe into conſideration, and order ſuch relief to them as in their wiſdom they ſhall think fit.

ORDERED,

That the ſaid petition do lie on the table for the peruſal of the members.

ORDERED, Nem. Con.

That ſuch members and perſons as are indebted by fees to the officers of this Houſe, on account of their abſence on the ſeveral calls of the Houſe or otherwiſe in this or the laſt ſeſſion of Parliament, do forthwith diſcharge the ſame.

A petition of the journeymen ſhoemakers, whoſe names are thereunto ſubſcribed, in behalf of themſelves and the reſt of the journeymen ſhoemakers of the county and city of Dublin, was preſented to the Houſe and read; ſetting forth, that there are now upwards of two thouſand five hundred ſhoemakers employed as journeymen in the city of Dublin, the average of whoſe earnings does not in the moſt lucrative branches of their buſineſs and with the utmoſt diligence amount to eight ſhillings a week for each individual, to earn even theſe wages the journeyman ſhoemaker (and to his trade only is this hardſhip peculiar) muſt work ſixteen hours in the twenty-four; that the preſent rates of payment are actually lower than they were ſome years paſt, when every article of proviſion was cheaper than at preſent, and finding it impoſſible to ſupport themſelves and families upon ſuch allowance, they have lately laid a caſe before counſel, ſtating the above grievances and others under which they have long laboured; that they are adviſed that of the numerous claſſes of working artiſans in this country the taylors only have a legal mode of ſeeking collectively for an augmentation of wages proportioned to the circumſtances of the times, and that the petitioners have no redreſs to hope for except from the bounty of their maſters or by an application to the legiſlature; that any relief to be obtained from their employers muſt be at beſt partial and precarious, and perhaps not ſo much in the power as in the wiſhes of many humane individuals of that deſcription to grant, for no combination among them to keep down or to reduce the price of labour is illegal, whilſt the petitioners have reaſon to fear that the peaceable meetings of a few of them for the purpoſe of deliberating on the moſt orderly means of obtaining a reaſonable compenſation for their induſtry may (under ſome of the laws in force againſt the aſſociations of journeymen) ſubject ſubject them to proſecution and puniſhment; that the petitioners have therefore determined to ſubmit an humble application to Parliament for relief of thoſe hardſhips under which they labour, and with which they conceive the intereſt and trade of this realm to be ultimately connected; that in order to furniſh materials for the wiſdom of Parliament to decide upon, they humbly beg leave to lay before the Houſe a ſtate of the ſhoemaking buſineſs in the city and county of Dublin, ſo far as it concerns the employment of journeymen; that there are three deſcriptions of work in the ſhoemaking trade, to wit, cuſtomers work, ſhop work, and work for exportation; that maſters attend to the quality of the firſt of theſe branches only and allow moderate wages thereon, but the prices allowed for the two latter are ſo extremely low that the workman to earn even the moſt miſerable ſubſiſtance is forced to put them ſlightly and negligently out of hands; that in conſequence of this, work exported from this kingdom is frequently returned as unmerchantable, and this branch of the national trade is gone to decay; that to remedy this evil, if one general rate was eſtabliſhed workmen would be able to ſpend a proper time in finiſhing their work, in conſequence of which all deſcriptions of work would be properly manufactured, the journeymen kept in conſtant employment, and a much greater call for Iriſh goods both at home and for foreign markets, which would ſtill further tend to the conſtant employment of the journeymen and to the increaſe of the national revenue; that the rates following were paid upwards of twenty years ago, in times very different from the preſent, which they humbly ſubmit to the wiſdom of the Houſe as the moſt moderate that can be eſtabliſhed for the preſent, to enable them to do juſtice between their employers and the public and to live:

That as it is impoſſible from the fluctuation in the price of the neceſſaries of life to fix any rate that ſhall be anſwerable to all the changes and emergencies of futurity, they humbly ſolicit from the humanity of the Houſe that ſome tribunal may be appointed before which they may legally and reſpectively lay a ſtate of their hardſhips in future, with powers to fix rates between maſter ſhoemakers and journeymen upon due proofs exhibited, as the exigency of the times may require; that without preſuming to dictate to the wiſdom of Parliament, they humbly beg leave to ſuggeſt that the regulation in that reſpect, made by 11 and 12, chap. 33, of his preſent Majeſty, for the government of the taylors, might be applied to their caſe with ſalutary effect; that they do not decline but ſolicit penalties and puniſhments to be inflicted on any of their body who ſhall combine or otherwiſe miſdemean themſelves to their employers in regard of encreaſing

It was carried in the affirmative.

A petition of John Long was preſented to the Houſe and read; ſetting forth, that petitioner has after much time ſpent in a variety of experiments diſcovered a method of brewing good malt liquor with a leſs quantity of malt and with a ſaving on hops; that petitioner being fully convinced of the utility of his new-invented ſyſtem went to England in the year 1789, where he remained until this month, and in that time he had a full opportunity of ſeeing and inſpecting all the principal breweries and diſtilleries in and about London, and obſerving their different methods of brewing porter and other beers and diſtilling, on ſome of which petitioner has made ſeveral conſiderable and acknowledged amendments; that petitioner applied to the lords of the admiralty and victualling board to put his ſyſtem into execution for the uſe of his Majeſty's navy, which they conſented to, provided it met the approbation of judges appointed by themſelves, and after a ſtrict examination, which laſted for three days, before that honourable board, the whole of petitioner's ſyſtem and all its chemical cauſes paſſed in petitioner's favour without one diſſenting voice, on which their lordſhips were pleaſed to grant petitioner a houſe and a ſufficient ſupply of money to complete the whole of his apparatus to brew one hundred and twenty barrels each day; that petitioner finds from his working ſaid houſe on his plan in England that the worts will be totally free in all ſeaſons from what is called the buck or any other diſagreeable flavour, as his cooling is completed in one hour even in the hotteſt day in ſummer, and the pro-ceſs of the brewing finiſhed in ten hours from the firſt wetting of the malt until the whole contents of the brewing is in a fermentable ſtate in the tun, by which invention all nightly work may be laid aſide, and much time, labour and coals ſaved, for all which inventions his Majeſty has been moſt graciouſly pleaſed to grant petitioner his royal letters patent under the great ſeal for fourteen years from the 24th of June 1790, and that petitioner is in poſſeſſion of ſeveral letters from the lords of the admiralty, the board of victualling, and from the principal malt brewers and diſtillers in and about London, recommending his new ſyſtem in the moſt flattering terms; that petitioner humbly conceives if the foregoing invention was put into execution it would conſiderably increaſe the revenues on malt liquors in this kingdom; and therefore praying the Houſe to take into their conſideration, whether petitioner ſhall, under their ſanction, communicate the contents of his Engliſh patent to the brewers of Ireland in general without any pecuniary reward, or that the Houſe will be pleaſed to erect or obtain a brew-houſe on his new-invented ſyſtem, immediately under the controul and inſpection of the board of commiſſioners, whereby he can fully prove to the Houſe and the community at large the ſuperior advantages that will ariſe to the public brewers and diſtillers of this kingdom, or to grant him legal protection to a patent in this kingdom for fourteen years, in like manner as in England.

magiſtracy to a dependence and ſubſerviency inconſiſtent with its rank and office, and in creating a venal influence in this city, equally inimical to its tranquillity and freedom; that the commiſſioners of police and their agents have, under the authority of this act, aſſumed and exerciſed vexatious and arbitrary powers, leading to tumult and litigation, and that their guard is armed for execution and not for arreſt; that therefore, after ſo long experience and ſuch various evidence of the manifold abuſes and utter inſufficiency of this inſtitution, the petitioners entreat the attention of the Houſe to their humble and earneſt prayer, that they may be reſtored to their ancient uſage by the repeal of this law.

That the ſaid petition do lie on the table for the peruſal of the members.

A motion was made, and the queſtion being put, that this Houſe do now adjourn,

It was carried in the affirmative.

And then the Houſe adjourned until to-morrow morning, ten of the clock.
